

Agribusiness Solutions

Mother Nature's feast, famine or flood. The potential for accidental pollution. Financial and technological challenges. Few industries compare with the considerable risks faced by agribusinesses.

You're Farmers and You Grow It.

Modern farmers must be tireless, dedicated and resilient. They must also be businessmen and women, chemists, mechanics, geneticists, financiers, lobbyists, computer experts, environmentalists, soil experts....and having a crystal ball wouldn't hurt either! Identifying your exposure to risk, and implementing a plan to reduce the impact to your business, is where we come in.

“There are only three things that can kill a farmer: lightning, rolling over in a tractor, and old age.”

- Bill Bryson, American Author and Humorist

We're sure you'll agree the list of risks has increased significantly from just three, but the underlying message of a farmer's determination has never been more true. Commercial farming operations – poultry and dairy farms, grain operations, mushroom farms, equine facilities, livestock producers and beyond – are businesses needing the highest level of risk management expertise possible.

To survive in agribusiness today, you're wearing more hats than ever...but you're also facing more risks.

That's where we come in.

Our dedicated agribusiness team has over 70 years experience managing risk in your industry. We understand safety, sustainability and productivity are interconnected and each is critical to your success. And, we recognize the increased demands on agribusiness are greater than ever - from the consumer's increased emphasis on animal welfare and food safety to a push by environmentalists for conservation and sustainability - these factors have added a new dimension of complexity to your daily operations.

Our role, simply put, is to help you identify today's risks and anticipate future risks to your industry.

We stand beside today's farmer, helping to ensure your safety and profitability as you seek solutions to the complex problems faced by your industry - locally, nationally and internationally. You can count on our professional advice – and most importantly – our personal dedication to you and your business.

“Without question, the Murray Securus advantage is their people!”
